

Homework ideas for class 7 – summer term.

Topics – Traditional tales, scrumdiddlyumptious, animals and their habitats, and what can you see?

Traditional tales:

How many of these can you share together?
Can you think of anymore that are not here?

Reading and sharing a story is a great way to increase vocabulary and encouraging understanding of what they have seen and heard.

How many stories can you share this term?

There are so many different things that can be made using chocolate. Cakes, crispy special cakes, lollies, the list goes on! How many different things can you think of? What the best? By doing things like this you are counting without knowing it, looking at numbers and experimenting all at the same time.

If you have any ideas of different things to make, have a go, it's fun!

Don't forget to let us know what you can make using chocolate!!

Everywhere you go there are things to see, different things to look at and to investigate. Lots of questions of how things work, where they come from and who put them there can spark imagination in anyone. Whenever you go somewhere, have a look to see what you can find that's new, makes you look twice, is shiny or different.

What can you spy with your little eye?

Do you have a pet? Do you know someone that has a pet?

Looking at where pets live and how we can look after them.

Share some pictures with you and a pet.
